Have you even read the whole thread NB? Andy can still post there's no conspiracy.

Re: Nexus, we have a problem.

I just got this skype from him my posts first go to a mod who then decides weather to allow it

I want to know why the skype room has nothing to do with the forum its separate and is no excuse for this I believe he deserves an apology. Its a good thing i missed all of this in there but since he has informed me its time to come clean

Oh, ok. Couldn't say. Guess You'll have to wait for a response from the mods.

There's no conspiracy Northern Boy. Andy would have been moderated days ago on any other forum for his behaviour alone. The last straw came earlier on when Andy said he was going to post private chats from skype. We the mod team have nothing to hide I can assure you, but members have shared some very, very personal story's in that Skype, and they understandably, were worried they would be made public. Andy has (apart from the general trouble causing) violated all the members of that chats trust, and this is the reason for him being set to moderated.

Thanks

Re: Nexus, we have a problem.

At nexus we have a gentler way to deal with disruptive and divisive members, where other forums just ban, either temporarily or permanently our first option is discussion in pvt, if that doesn't work the member is moderated, meaning posts that are checked before approval. This allows the member to PM as normal the difference being posts or new threads are checked by the team before it goes public. In several cases now the member that was moderated was returned to regular status. keep in mind also in almost a year its been done 3-4 times or so, bans on members are even rarer. As for andy, the answer as to why is all over this thread and several others.

well □□□□, you know...you are right, I should not have taken something from the chat room to in here in the first place, quoted or not, even to back up an argument or well, for any reason personal or not, even to set a sequence of events no matter how trivial. I crossed a line and I see that now. I was upset and not thinking that referencing my POV can be just as bad as quoting...

perhaps it was because Chico was sharing his own experiences of his time in the MOD room in the same manner in a number of his posts, in summarizing what he saw and experienced in a similar manner and it blurred the lines...(not that Chico shares any fault in my fallings) it is so easy to follow a bad example during debate and lose the point of gentlemanly behavior, maybe we should all take a break from this argument before other mistakes are made

So I will edit my post above and I apologize to you Andy for doing that, I am stressed and strained and am clearly erroneous here at your expense, hope I can make it up to you and to the community as well, that is not a good example to set AT ALL

I encourage others to self moderate as well perhaps even edit their own posts they have made crossing the same lines

thanks NB for making a good point, and can you also edit your quote of my words accordingly as I am sure Andy would want it gone from here, but not trying to speak for him

respectfully
Burke

Re: Nexus, we have a problem.

Its like patterns in a River Bed. The Mod team is in a rut....

I would suggest a complete replacement along with the Owner to a new team. Only this rotating system could insure a flat equal level. It is unavoidable to be in a Pyramid Scheme with a collective. Only a good immune system can suppress the Disease to keep it at bay. And then, still, old age is inevitable....

Is this community open enough to allow, for example Magamud or Krystics, to join the MOD team? Are you Vajra? BTW, I appreciate the efforts of the existing team, but maybe more is needed to restore balance and to reflect the diversity of its member base. I voted Sandy with Jence as a good second. Team building is a difficult process of balance and managing diversity.

You would have to consider other stuff too. First of all you'd have to find people who are willing to carry out the task, then you'd also need to have people who have knowledge on coding. Then you have to get people who pay for the servers, either with their own money or money coming from donations.

I certainly can't be bothered to be a Mod and I'd make a terrible one.

Re: Nexus, we have a problem.

I am not being a MOD here by any chance. This is my swan song. The dynamics will not change at the core, because no one can have balanced discourse at the core, due to not investigating the core. It's really that simple. This place will not reach the core, but just stay above it fueling the Dialectic and Polarization of the Alternative Media to mediocracy, Drama and shame....

This will be the best argument as to why this is a Non Sensical Issue. Instead of grabbing the fulcrum of Identifying the patterns of the Pyramid and its thriving environment of long standing leaders and policies.

I never said it was non sensical nor that it shouldn't be thought about, in fact ZookieMonster brought up that proposal and I found it interesting. What I mentioned are dynamics which also require attention and they are not going to sort themselves out. Now if you think there are patterns which I'm failing to see at the moment, do point them out, show me that spear of reason.

Re: Nexus, we have a problem.

The dynamics you mentioned sort themselves out if there is enough power on Virtue. When there is not, you get bureaucracy, Normalcy remarks, and Ostracism. Which is apparent in the real time milieu. I am wearing a flame thrower so im in no position to propose architecture. Im to busy burning it all down...

Got to keep it even...

What is your definition of virtue? you may be speaking of an ability for self-contemplation, self-knowledge and self-responsibility which would probably lead you to apply the rosicrucian idea which proposes: A person should only govern others in the same extent as he/she is capable of governing himself/herself. Of course this would be ideal, in more realistic terms you would get many fvck ups, but then again it shouldn't be an excuse to rule it out. The best you could do is learn from those mistakes and integrate the useful material.

Fair enough, a de-construction phase. Now, what cancer do you see in the current pyramid?

Family means You and Richard . I guess , since you of course can not speak for anyone else than yourself, and a few . Your family unit is very strong here, but not the only one . Too many people are speaking for the nexus WE here , and saying different things . WE are all one voice here , OUR own .

This upsets me , Céline , and I question If it maybe could be the best idea for you to step down as a moderator , to be able to be Céline, the subjective, emotional person you are, and must be .
- A wonderful one , I will add.
Both you and the forum will benefit if you do , imo .

It is a matter of time before your "role" here will create more drama, because you mix together the roles, and when you comment it is often not clear if it is as a mod or a member , or a mother , and there must be more people than me noticing this clearly the last week . You went so far as too close to provoking truthhunter in his own thread (stay on topic) under the guise of moderating , I guess This should seriously be considered , by you and the nexus-team (I also guess some members here will have comments)

Chicos OP error in jumping to conclusions is aired and apologized for. It is now water under the bridge , or should be . About the techs of nexus it seems to be cleared up , but to chip in :

I want to thank Richard again for the relentless work you do for this forum . (This thanks extends to the whole team of admins and moderators .) No surprise that you want Chico off the forum , but I do not support you here . I hope you change your mind , since I know you usually get your will ...

Everyone should take some time out here , and understand the stress both Chico, the mod-team and the nexus community have been through lately . Unnecessary errors are so easily made , often from laughable details infect . Happy holiday , folks . Hope to see you (all) later .
